Suspect Arrested Resembles Lingle Slayer Police Say

Grover Dullar, Gambler, Linked With Final Acts
of Reporter

RAID GANG PLACES

Round-Up of Gangsters
Follows Two More
Deaths

CHICAGO, July 1.—(AP)—Grover Dullar, suspected of complicity in the slaying of Alfred (Jake) Lingle, together with nine companions was arrested by detectives from the state's attorney's office who raided two Moran gang gathering places late Monday.

Dullar was formerly connected with a gambling resort in which Lingle, Julius (Potatoes) Kauffman and Joe Joseph were said by investigators to have been interested.

Dullar, according to the information upon which the state's attorneys' office acted, was at the Hotel Sherman when Lingle entered there the afternoon of June 9 shortly before he was killed.

When Lingle left the lunch counter there, according to investigators, Dullar either joined him or trailed him. Between the hotel and the Illinois Central subway under Michigan avenue, where the assassination occurred, Dullar was joined by a "short, swarthy man," who was walking with the reporter when he was killed.

If, as the prosecutor's office theorized, Dullard did not fire the shot, he possibly passed the weapon to the slayer somewhere between the hotel and the subway.

Dullar was taken by the raiders as he walked into an office in a downtown building where a number of Moran followers were conferring. None of the men offered resistance beyond attempting to make away with a heavy ledger. The book was retrieved after it had been thrown from a window and was found to contain 150 names—supposedly the payroll of George "Big" Moran.

The other Moran raid was made at a room in a North Shore hotel. Names of those taken were not given out.

Both groups were rushed to the state's attorney's office, where the suspects were questioned behind closed doors. Chief Investigator Pat Roche refused to disclose the results of the questioning but it was understood a number of witnesses to the Lingle slaying were sent for to view the suspects.

The raids followed close on two new gangland deaths—those of Michael Gillitcho, alias Frank Pittello, and an unidentified man, apparently an Italian. Gillitcho's body, shot nine times, was found on a lonely road near McCook, a western suburb. His hand clutched a nickel—gangland's symbol of "cheap." Only 17 years old, the victim had been in the racket for two years and was affiliated with "Red" Bolton's West Side mob, a Capone subsidiary. Previously he had been a member of the "42" gang, composed of young hoodlums from the near Southwest Side Italian district. He had been beer runner and hijacker and, as usual in these killings, there were abundant motives for his putting away.

The unidentified Italian was found near Kentland, Ind. He had been shot five times and apparently dumped out of an automobile. Marks on the clothing indicated it had come from Chicago and finger prints were sent here for study.

State Has Series of Light Showers

Most Every Section Has Rain Except Southwest Portion

(Associated Press)
Light showers which fell over most sections of Arkansas yesterday and last night brought temporary relief from the heat caused by the long drought. Rainfall was not sufficient, however, to be of much help to the crops in many sections.

Dardanelle reported the heaviest rainfall of any Arkansas town over the 24-hour period. The report from that city was that 1.4 inches of rain had fallen there over a 24-hour period, ending at 7 o'clock today.

Another light shower fell at Little Rock early today, with thunder showers predicted for tonight.

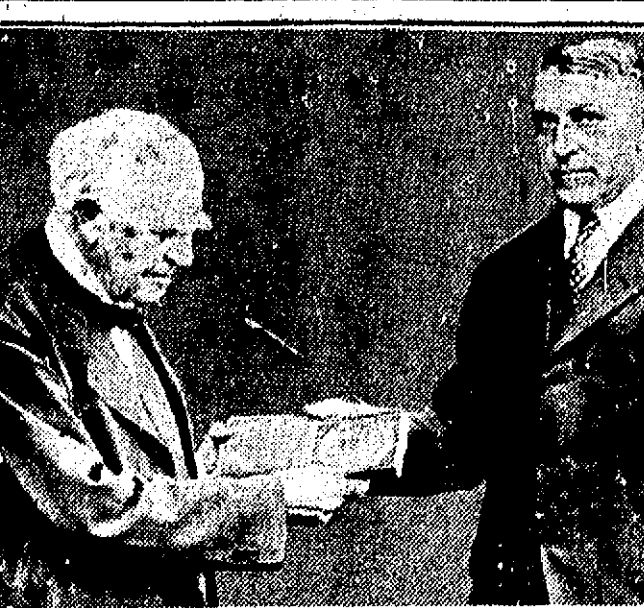

Woman and Man Held After Barber Is Shot

MEMPHIS, July 1.—(AP)—Conflicting stories were told Monday by J. V. Wilson, barber, and Helen Wilson, 35, alias Helen Davis, held in connection with the shooting of Eugene E. Rogers, tractor mechanic, who was in a serious condition at a hospital.

The woman said Wilson shot Rogers when the mechanic came to the home where, both Wilson and she admitted, she had been living as Wilson's common law wife.

Wilson denied he shot Rogers, but accused no one else.

Bridge Out Below Texarkana, No. 71

Caving Bank Warps Old
Structure—To Build
New One

The large steel bridge which spans Sulphur river on highway No. 71 in lower Miller county was badly twisted by a caving bank Monday, and traffic across the bridge is suspended. District Highway Engineer R. B. Stanford announced here today.

The settling of the river bank was still in progress early today, but in the opinion of engineers is about finished. This bridge was erected by Miller county several years ago, and has been damaged several times by the shifting sand that lies beneath its foundations.

The State Highway Department recently completed plans for a new structure at Sulphur river, and contract will probably be let in July, Mr. Stanford said. The site was inspected early today by C. S. Christian, chief highway engineer, and Mr. Stanford.

Mr. Stanford this morning reported progress on other bridges belonging to the old highway system which have suffered damage recently from heavy traffic. One of these is the small structure across Terre Rouge creek, between Hope and Emmet on No. 67.

Man and Daughters Shot, Then Burned

Negro Arrested Charged With Committing
the Crime

WHALLEN, Va., July 1.—(AP)—Allie Corbin, 65, is near death, and his two daughters, Estelle and Isabelle, are in a hospital, all suffering from bullet wounds and burns in an alleged attack made upon them.

Edward Paine, negro, is in jail charged with the crime. When arrested Paine denied any knowledge of the crime.

Sheriff W. S. Wolf said the girls told him that Paine had come to their home and informed them that their father had been hurt in an automobile accident. Paine is alleged to have told them that he would drive them to the hospital where their father had been taken. While on the way they alleged that Paine shot both of them, poured gasoline on the car and set it on fire. Then he ran away.

Paine is alleged to have told the officers that the shooting and burning was the result of an accident.

Two other negroes, one of which officers believe was the leader of the party, ran away. Officers were confident that the negro who opened fire on them was one of the two who ran away.

Officers said as they approached the scene of the still the negroes opened fire on them and that they killed one and wounded the other three. The three are in jail.

Shipp acted on information furnished by army authorities placing the alleged deserter somewhere on the road between Oklahoma and this city. He returned from his trip to Hot Springs last night.

Death of Woman to Be Investigated

Coroners Jury Orders an Examination of the Body

LITTLE ROCK, July 1.—(AP)—The death of Mrs. A. E. Koonce, in a North Little Rock hospital, today from injuries supposed to have been caused by an automobile accident is being investigated from two sources. One by Coroner Samuel G. Boyce and the other by the police department of North Little Rock.

Mrs. Koonce was an occupant of an automobile driven by E. E. Head, Missouri Pacific fireman, who told the police that the car skidded into a ditch near Remount. Head is being held for further investigation. He is said to have told officers he was driving the woman to a dairy near Remount, where she expected to obtain work when the accident happened.

Attendants at the hospital where the woman was taken told officers that her clothing contained a strong odor of kerosene and that she had several burns on her body. The left temple was also crushed. She said she received these lacerations in the accident.

The coroner ordered an examination of the body to determine the cause of death.

Magnolia Plans One More Course

A. and M. Now Has Five
Regular Departments
Listed

MAGNOLIA, July 1.—In addition to the present regular five departments of the Third District A. & M. College a new department of Business Administration will be established next fall if the investigations of C. A. Overstreet, president of the college, result favorably.

The Board of Trustees authorized the president to make such an investigation of the needs for such a course to be given in an institution of Southwestern Arkansas.

While the courses in the new department, if it is established will include such subjects as business and industrial organization, cost accounting and economics, special emphasis will be placed upon rural economics. It is the special purpose to training young men in the business methods to be applied to the marketing of farm products.

The five regular departments of the college are now liberal arts, agriculture, home economics, education and pre-medicine. The special departments are military science in conjunction with the Arkansas National Guards, fine arts and secondary school.

J. H. McLain Will Speak Here Trade Day, on Thursday

Famous Humorist and Dairyman To Talk
at 4 p. m.

BIG CROWD FOR DAY
Merchants Ass'n. Looks
For Record Turnout
Day Before 4th

J. H. McLain, field speaker for the United States Department of Agriculture whose appearance at a dairy supper here last fall delighted a large crowd of farmers and townsmen, will speak to a street crowd on the celebration of Hope's second monthly Trade Day, here Thursday July 3.

This announcement was made today by the Hope Retail Merchants association, which organization is sponsoring the series of Trade Days and a dairy feature in conjunction with it.

Mr. McLain was obtained for the speaking engagement at 4 o'clock at Second and Main streets Thursday, through the efforts of County Agent Lynn Smith. Mr. McLain will come to Hope for only a few hours, having a night engagement Thursday at Garden.

All members of the Merchants association are co-operating for the best success Thursday. Another pure-bred Jersey heifer will be on exhibit, and Mr. McLain will speak on dairy topics. He is regarded as the most interesting, humorous and practical farm speaker who has ever appeared here, being a large dairyman in his own name, in South Carolina.

Owing to the fact that Thursday is the day before the Fourth of July, and the last shopping opportunity prior to the holiday, a record-breaking crowd is expected to attend the bargain events at local stores on that day. The Fourth of July is a city-wide holiday in Hope, the banks, postoffice, all general mercantile stores, and The Star, being closed for the day.

Special Attention To 4-H Club Work

190 Expected to 3Be Banner Year for Clu Work in This County

4-H club work in Hempstead county is receiving special attention this year according to County Agent Lynn Smith. Over 500 members are enrolled in 12 regularly organized 4-H clubs. These 4-H clubs have one or more meetings each month and are governed by officers elected from the membership under the direction of adult local leaders (one man and one woman in the community) assisted by the county demonstration agents.

There are 231 boys enrolled in the club work this year. These boys are engaged in the production of the various farm commodities like dairy cattle, hogs, truck crops, cotton, corn, etc., and are keeping an accurate record of expenses on this work.

Contests are being sponsored in pork production, cotton production and corn production and in which phases several prizes are being offered. Thirty-five members are enrolled in the cotton contest, the winner of which will receive a gold Elgin watch. The same prize is being offered the winner in the corn contest.

The ton litter contest, which is open both to adults and 4-H club members, is receiving special attention. Two hundred forty-four club members are trying for the prizes offered in this contest. Stroman Goodlett of Ozan and Frank Padgett of Ozan are the 4-H club entries. At the end of the 180 day (6 months) trial the animals will be weighed and cost figures shown in an effort to emphasize the economical production of pork.

The 4-H club program for the remainder of the year will receive more attention than in the past since the Grover Kincaid, assistant county agent, who is now on duty will turn a good portion of his time to this work.

Anthrax Outbreak In Lonoke County

Twenty Five Cattle Die
Within Week Is Report

LITTLE ROCK, July 1.—An outbreak of anthrax in herds of cattle near Carlisle caused death of 25 head during the past week, Dr. J. H. Bux, state veterinarian, said Monday. All carcasses, with officials of the Chamber herds are being vaccinated. Dr. C. D. Stubbs, assistant state veterinarian, is in charge of preventive measures.

Slight outbreaks among the cattle on six farms in the vicinity of Lake Village, Chicot county, have been reported to Dr. Bux by Dr. H. C. Boyd of Lake Village, deputy state veterinarian. A herd of cattle near Boydell, Ashley county was vaccinated last week against what was believed to be an outbreak of the disease.

The situation is not alarming, Dr. Bux said, but many become so with continuance of the present high temperatures. Hot weather is favorable to development of the disease.

Other cases of stock diseases reported at the state veterinarian's office during the past week include tumor formation, arising from infection, among pigs and skin infections of cattle and mules. Three inquiries were received regarding the method of testing cattle for tuberculosis.

Dr. R. N. Russell, deputy state veterinarian, issued a health schedule for shipment to Nebraska.

Special Session May Start Monday

Hoover's Call For Action
On Treaty Depends on Adjournment

WASHINGTON, July 1.—(AP)—President Hoover apparently is going to give the Senate a Fourth of July holiday before calling the special session for consideration of the London naval treaty.

It was intimated at the White House that if Congress adjourned by Wednesday night, or Thursday, the president would issue the call for the special session to convene on Monday.

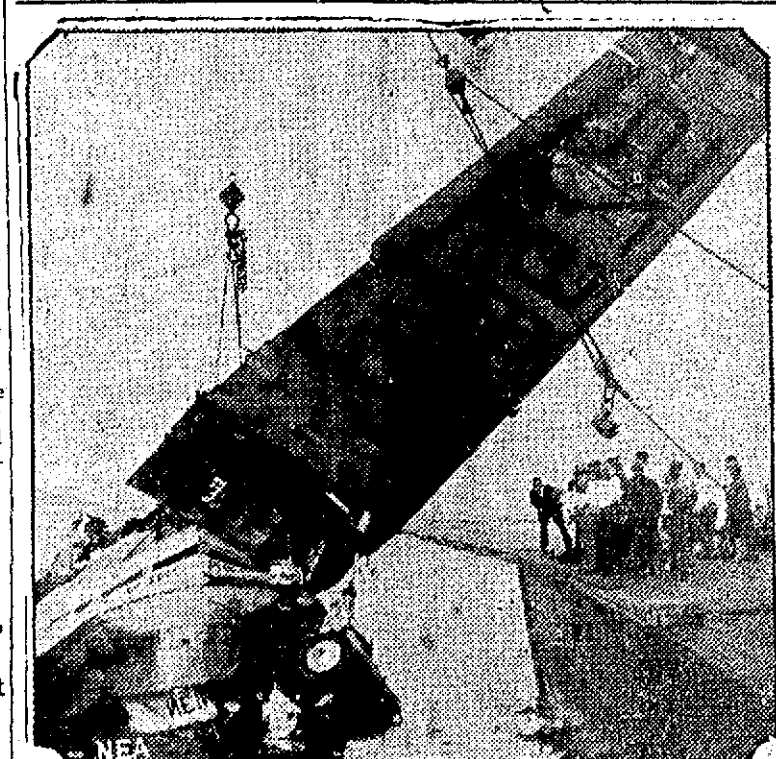

Some treaty advocates in the Senate have insisted that Mr. Hoover call the Senate back into session the day after adjournment, fearing many members would not return once they had left the city.

The treaty issue has become involved somewhat in the adjournment plan. Opposition to the pact insists that it be laid over until November. If the Senate fails to have a quorum on hand at any time, a move will be made for a recess until November.

Chairman Borah of the Foreign Relations Committee, who will be in charge of the treaty during its debate in the Senate, would make no comment on the proposal to defer the special session until next week, providing Congress adjourns now. He said he would put the treaty before the Senate and keep it there when the special session is called.

Secretary Stimson, who headed the American delegation to London, called today at the Senate and conferred with leaders. It was said, however, that he brought no suggestions for the forthcoming treaty debate and had called to size up the situation.

Boston-New York Plane in Fatal Dive

The battered air liner Nokomis in which one passenger was killed and fourteen others injured in a plunge into Boston Harbor, is shown here as salvagers attempted to retrieve it from the water soon after the accident. The ship dove into the bay from a height of only 75 feet shortly after taking off for New York, when one of its motors went dead. Hundreds witnessed the fatal crash and saw the occupants fight frantically to escape from the cabin of the partially submerged craft.

Bridge Opening Is Not to Be Delayed

Temporary Approach To Be Available, Says
Highway Engineer

TEXARKANA, July 1.—Nothing will delay the opening of the new Garland bridge after construction work is finished, State Highway Engineer C. S. Christian announced here Monday in answer to published reports that the structure might remain idle.

The announcement came in connection with a conference between the highway engineering chief, R. B. Stanford, of Hope, district engineer, and Hugh H. McCaughy, resident engineer, with officials of the Chamber of Commerce.

Pointing out that the only thing needed to launch traffic, once the bridge is completed, is a temporary dirt approach on the Miller county side, Christian declared that such an embankment could be thrown up within 10 days after the abutments are finished and the last concrete poured.

Right-of-way is already in hand for the temporary approach and suits have been filed in Miller county circuit court for right-of-way for the permanent approach which is to be built while the bridge is being used.

Bridge contractors estimate the last concrete will be poured July 15, and will be hardened sufficiently by July 25. The steel work has already been finished.

Doubt expressed by the bridge men as to whether the embankment could be completed in time if work were begun at once, was the basis of the report with which the state engineer took issue.

"They are good bridge builders, but they don't know anything about road approaches," was the succinct answer of the highway makers.

Endurance Test Record Holders Continue to Fly

Still Declare That They Intend To Be in Air
On July 4th

MAY STAY UP LONGER

Refueling Crew Fill Tank
Late Monday With 75
Gallons Gasoline

CHICAGO, July 1.—(AP)—The dream of an airplane cutting nonstop figure eights above Sky Harbor airport gave proof Monday night that those Hunter boys and their hand-monoplane were burning the brand deeper into the world's record for non-stop refueling endurance flying.

At 3:40 p. m. Monday, the plane of the young pilots, John and Kenneth Hunter, had been in flight continuously for 19 days—46 hours—passing by nearly a day and a half the old record of 42 hours 21 minutes established by Dale Jackson, Forest O'Brien and St. Louis aviators.

There was no indication that the new endurance champions were giving up. The "City of Chicago" now landed and luxury bath and toilet rest and richer. In frequent sages dropped to their knees and refueling partners Walter and Herbert, brothers of the two endurance pilots, the fliers said they intended at least to celebrate the Fourth of July in the air and maybe stay up longer.

The only complaint of the pilots was that the refueling crew had to wait for their state-of-the-art refueling tank, whose food they said was not the man enough. "Give us more food and hard-boiled eggs," a pilot said, "and less of that fair fixed and chicken."

During the afternoon, the fliers and the refueling crew in this Bay of the endurance, monoplanes, established their 18th contract for food and messages, transferring more gallons of gasoline to the "City of Chicago." The contract was made after a note dropped by the air crew requested more fuel. The note apparently contained another message inasmuch as the ground crew delayed the refueling flight long enough to write a lengthy reply to the nature of which was not made known.

The ground crew said the contact was in no respect on emergency refueling, although a similar contact had been made only three hours previously. Since the disabling of one of the endurance plane's fuel tanks, four days ago, the refueling tank has been more often. Pilots of both planes, however, seemed to meet the one exigencies without much added trouble.

The endurance plane, a rebuilt Stinson, Detroit, with a 300-horsepower Wright whirlwind motor, has flown approximately 34,000 miles in this 19 day test, the pilots averaging about 75 miles per hour as they keep circling above the airport.

Federal Warehouse Looted By Gunmen

$200,000 Alcohol and Brandies Are Truck-
ed Away

CHICAGO, July 1.—Fifteen gunmen held control of a government warehouse for three hours Sunday night and trucked away whiskies, brandies and alcohol the value of which may exceed $200,000.

Included in the liquor stored in the two-story warehouse were 400 cases of bonded whisky shipped to Chicago from Jacksonville, Fla., presumably by agents of Al Capone, and seized by Federal agents.

The possibility that the raid on the warehouse was by Capone gangsters seeking to recover the seized liquor is being investigated.

Paul Perry, night watchman, was alone when four men, each carrying a large can, appeared at the entrance. Perry thought they were federal prohibition agents bringing more liquor for storage, and he admitted them. Gun barrels were poked against his side and he was bound, gagged and blindfolded. The gang leaders then admitted the others, and the three-hour job of carrying out the cases of liquor to waiting trucks was begun.

Only a few of the raiders probably only the four men whom the night watchman admitted were gangsters, police said, the others being laborers and roustabouts who did the actual work of transferring the liquor from the warehouse to the trucks.

River Workers Toil During June

Force of 10,000 Men Employed By Government Work On River

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 1.—(UP)—Like harvest hands who work hard during fair weather, thousands of river workers employed on the Missouri river reconstruction job, toiled the first week of the month in the heat of the big month in the year for river construction.

The force of 10,000 men employed by the government, and deployed along the banks of the Missouri river from above St. Louis northward to Missouri headwaters, is working night and day. Three 8-hour shifts are employed, the work never stopping.

It is in June, army engineers in charge of the inland water development program, explain, which spells success or failure to their efforts. During the June rise the river scours itself, adding new sand bars and washing away existing ones. To catch the river silt and sand the engineers have driven piles at the channel edge, tying a mattress of planks and willow switches to the river bottom near the piling.

In some places the piling parallels the shoreline and between the piling the shoreward rocks have been dumped. Opposite this a revetment is constructed to protect the other shoreline. These revetments are intended to protect the bank so that the river current won't cut it away when the channel becomes deeper and the current faster.

It is the hope of the government engineers to finish the work on the Missouri in time for the 1931 wheat crop to be carried to gulf port towns and ocean steamers in river barges.

Approximately half of the force employed on the Missouri, is housed in "cow huts," the river man's name for the quarterboats which house upwards of 100 men each.

Quarterboat No. 12 is now located above Lexington, Mo., historic river shipping town about 50 miles down stream from here. The stub-nosed river boat lassoed to the banks has been on the Missouri for three years following the crews. Three times daily—at noon, 8 p. m., and 4 a. m.—shifts of workmen go and come from No. 12 and there are three meals at different hours for each shift.

The quiet river on one side and the quiet bank, seldom populated even by farmers within a half mile of the river, are the setting for No. 12. During dry weather when Missouri dirt roads leading to Lexington are good, the crews drive to town between shifts. Many are content to live on the river week after week without going to town.

The crew includes a sprinkling of college boys many of them engineering students, bent on getting practical experience. Veterans say they are getting plenty of it.

Bishop Cannon Asked To Quit Church Post

ATLANTA, Ga., July 1.—A resolution petitioning Bishop Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, to resign "for the best interests of the cause of Christianity throughout the world" has been adopted by lay members of the church at Newnan Ga., and was characterized by Dr. Rembert G. Smith, of Washington, Ga., as evidence of "serious dissatisfaction with the outcome of the Dallas conference."

The resolution mentions specifically Bishop Cannon's admitted political activity in the last presidential campaign and his stock market speculations, against which the Dallas conference declined to take action.

Sweet are the thoughts that savor of content;
The quiet mind is richer than a crown;
Sweet are the nights in careless slumber spent;
The poor estate scorns fortune's angry frown;
Such sweet content, such minds, such sleep, such bliss.
Beggars enjoy, when princes oft do miss.
The homely house that harbours quiet rest;
The cottage that affords no pride nor care;
The mean that greets with country music's lore;
Obscured life sets down a type of bliss;
A mind content both crown and kingdom is.

A wedding of impressive beauty was solemnized on last evening at 9 o'clock at St. Marks Episcopal church. When Miss Laurine Livingston Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Lewis became the bride of Frank Edwards Nolen, with Dr. J. T. Bovill, Rector, officiating. The church was a bower of beauty, the chancel and choir rail were entwined with southern smilax, forming a background for the tall wicker baskets filled with ferns and white daisies, in tall candelabra turned cathedral tapers, which were lighted by John Clyde Hill. Proceeding the service, Mrs. K. G. McRae, Jr., played a program of wedding music, and Mrs. Talbot Feild sang, "O Promise Me" and D'Hardelot's "All For You." Followed by Mrs. Tully Henry, who sang, "Until" and "For You Alone." The bride entered alone and beautiful in her wedding gown of white satin, princess style, long sleeves and yoke of imported lace seeded with pearls, her embroidered tulle veil, which was held in place with a cap of lace and caught with orange blossoms, fell in graceful folds over the long train, she wore beaded slippers and her bouquet was of brides roses and valley lilies. Mrs. M. E. Garaffio of Little Rock was her sister's Matron of Honor and wore a becoming gown of green net, made princess style, ruffled skirt, slight train she wore matching slippers and hat of shirred net and carried a bouquet of pink snap dragon and shasta daisies tied with green ribbon. The bridesmaids, Miss Dorothy Davis of Rushton, La., Miss Mary Lillian McRae, Miss Pauline Harris, Miss Emma Mae Wilson of Los Angeles, Calif., Mrs. Frank R. Johnson, Mrs. G. J. McGregor were attired in frocks of pale yellow net, made princess style with ruffled skirt, slight trains, long matching mittens, and hats of yellow shirred net, trimmed with daisies, and wore gold slippers. They carried bouquets of pink snap dragon and shasta daisies tied with pink ribbons. Little Misses Marilyn McRae and Laura Ann Garaffio in dainty frocks of green georgette and lace scattered daisy petals in the bride's path. Master George Morgan Toney of Wheatly, Ark carried the ring on a white satin pillow. W. L. Nolen of Nashville, Tenn., brother of the groom served as best man, and the groomsmen were Robert Campbell, Robert LaGrone, I. T. Bell, Jr., Paul Lewis, Frank R. Johnson and K. D. Kyrne of Phoenix, Ariz. A reception for the bridal party out of town guests and immediate friends was given at the home of the bride immediately after the service.

Southern smilax and shasta daisies were used in the decorations, and an ice-cream in which the bride's chosen color scheme of yellow and green was carried out, was served. Mrs. L. C. Ingram of Beatron, La., was in charge of the bride's book and Mrs. W. P. Parker, Mrs. Hayes McRae, Mrs. Billy (Continued On Page Five)

The Star's Platform

Apply the revenues of the municipal power plant to develop the industrial and social resources of Hope.
More city pavement in 1930, and improved sanitary conditions in the alleys and business back-yards.
Support the Chamber of Commerce.

COUNTY

A county highway program providing for the construction of a minimum amount of all-weather road each year, to gradually reduce the dirt road mileage.

Political and economic support for every scientific agricultural program which offers practical benefits to Hempstead county great-est industry.

Encourage farmer organizations, believing that co-operative effort is as practical in the country as it is in town.

STATE

Continued progress on the state highway program.
Fearless tax reform, and a more efficient government through the budget system of expenditures.
Free Arkansas from the cattle tick.

Arkansas's Good Health

ARKANSAS has the eighth lowest percentage of infant deaths among all the American states, according to the summary for 1929 just received by The Star from the division of vital statistics at Washington.

Our infant mortality last year totalled 59.5 for every 1,000 births. Only seven states showed a lower percentage.

Even California with its highly advertised climate failed to equal Arkansas' record, her infant death rate being nearly four points higher, 63.2 out of 1,000.

The public finds little of interest in vital statistics, but this comparison of the various states sheds valuable light on Arkansas' true position with regard to national health. It is in sharp contrast with the popular view of Arkansas health and resources, which in some quarters are supposed to be inferior to other states.

As a matter of fact we are in the top one-sixth of all American states in the important matter of infant health.

This is an irrefutable argument for Arkansas climate. It is too little advertised. In the mind of the nation it does not seem nearly so important as California's highly-touted Pacific Coast climate. Yet in the deadly parallel of the statistical column it proves superior to five-sixths of the American states.

Hardy Southern Industry

WHERE the South stands during the present recession in industry is clearly shown by the Department of Commerce's report on the cotton spinning industry in May, received by The Star the last week in June.

The department reports that while the cotton growing states have a total of only 19 million spindles compared to 13 1/2 million for New England, our active spindles during the month of May exceeded New England's by practically two to one, 18 million to 9 1/2 million. The average textile spindle in the South worked 250 hours in May, compared to only 129 hours for the New England spindle, and a national average of only 197 hours.

The figures prove that the South has not only captured the bulk of the cotton spinning industry, but the natural advantages in climate and cheap operating conditions which enable it to make that seizure also enable it to keep the wheels turning almost 100 per cent when Northern industry is at half-speed.

The significant fact is that the South, which was once an experimenter and marginal producer in textiles, has become the pivot for this entire industry, leaving the Northern mills to face the hard knocks of operating losses and unemployment.

Industrial leaders have been pointing to the textile industry for the last five or six years as the measure of industrial progress that the South may sometime achieve, and the Department of Commerce report for May certainly bears this out.

For A Real Vacation

NOW that the summer automobile touring season is getting under way, the American motorist might as well sit down and ask himself just what it is that he is going after when he takes his vacation trip.

The answer, in most cases, of course, would be—rest, relaxation, amusement, a change of scene. Yet many of us, by trying to cover too leave our ordinary habits of life behind us, fail to get any of these things. We come back from our vacations more tired than when we started out. It is a commonplace expression that "you need another vacation to get rested up from your first one."

Probably it is the motorist who suffers in this way more than anyone else. The reason, generally, is that he tries to go too far and do too much. He makes his destination his goal, and not the mere fact of wandering.

Why put yourself on schedule when you take a vacation drive, anyway? Why make up your mind that you are going to get to this, that or the other place regardless of any obstacles? You might as well be traveling about on business. It puts you under a strain. You do not get the rest you need.

A simpler, much more enjoyable plan, is to start out without and very definite notion where you are going and with no set schedule whatever. In this way the real joy of motoring can be tasted. You pilot your car along at a comfortable pace—and how much less tired one gets driving at 30 miles an hour than driving at 50;—and when you find a pleasant place you stop and enjoy it. You loaf, in other words, stopping when and where you please, changing your course when you strike an interesting road; and when you get through you have been rested in body and mind and are ready for another year's work.

The man who tries that kind of vacation once will never go back to the other kind. It pays big dividends. To be free from the tyranny of watches, time tables and schedules for two weeks is a great blessing.

Razor blades, we read, are now being sold in restaurants. Next thing you know they'll be serving shaving cream with the strawberries.

From the portions you receive, you might well think restaurant pie was cut by a razor blade.

And at such a party you won't need an invitation. Just say at the door that Gus sent you.

"With Byrd at the South Pole" at the Saenger

Busy as he was, with all the details of the gigantic South Pole expedition on his shoulders, Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, whose achievement in circling the South Pole by airplane and exploring the ice-covered territory at "the bottom of the world" has stirred a world-wide acclaim. Was never too preoccupied to take note of the interesting human-interest sights which occurred during the stay of the expedition in the Antarctic.

Willard Vander Veer, Paramount camera-man with the expedition, says the intrepid leader was indefatigable in calling the attention of himself and his co-workers, Joseph Rucker, to interesting incidents he ran across; a battle between seal and sledge dog puppies; a roundup of the solemn penguins whose insulted dignity made one of the funniest scenes in the entire film-record brought to the United States by Paramount; the entire personnel lined up, including the admiral himself, each man shaving the head of the man in front of him in preparation for the long winter night.

These are only a few of the heartily humorous incidents in the master picture, "With Byrd at the South Pole," which will show at the Saenger theatre, today, Wednesday and Thursday. The film is filled with the romantic heroism, the homely humor, the daring feats and the awe-inspiring wonder of Byrd's gigantic undertaking. From the moment the expedition landed in Little America until the final trek for home, the moving picture document shows the hardships, the amusements, the drama and romance of the forty-two men who braved the perils of the unknown. Admiral Byrd, himself, played an important part in making the picture. Vander Veer, who also accompanied the leader on his previous expedition to the North Pole, says "It was largely due to the continual co-operation of Admiral Byrd that Rucker and myself were able to secure film that we are confident will result in one of the most outstanding moving pictures of all times. The same personal interest he gave the work of a fervent scientist attached to the expedition secured for us, not only a complete photograph record of the expedition's life in the Antarctic, but also permitted us to develop all the elements necessary for a feature production of adventure, pathos, comedy and drama."

Shifting Sands Reveal Old City

Federal Official Plans to Excavate Arizona
Remains

PHOENIX, Ariz., July 1.—(UP)—Cibola, "City of Jewels," sought four centuries ago by Spanish conquistadores when they learned from Indian legends of its ancient existence, is believed to have been found here recently, when sands of the Arizona desert near Palomas shifted and revealed ruins of a lost city.

The discovery was made by W. J. Hanna, federal land inspector, who claims to have found evidence of prehistoric civilization along an ancient water course.

Much pottery and remains of an ingenious irrigation system were uncovered, he said.

Excavation is planned in the fall.

Thedford's Black-Draught Relieves These Symptoms, Says Carolina Lady.

West Asheville, N. C.—Mrs. Hannah Crook, of 123 Hudson Street, this city, says that she has been acquainted with Thedford's Black-Draught from using it regularly, when needed, during the last ten years.

"I would have spells of indigestion," she explains. "My stomach would hurt and seem to be all upset. I did not relish my food. I would have a bad taste in my mouth; then I would take a headache and have to go to bed."

"I read about Black-Draught. I found it helped me when the headaches came on. I would take a few doses of Black-Draught and get easy. So now, when I feel the first symptoms, I begin with Black-Draught, and I find that by doing so I can keep off the headache, which I now do."

"Black-Draught certainly is a good medicine and will do what it is recommended to do."

The medicine which this lady mentions is recommended by thousands of others because of the benefit it has been to them. Sold everywhere. 25¢.

Dry Periods Best Years For Cotton

Records of Former Years
Show Best Crops Follow Dry Years

Already one frequent hears reference made to the probable effect of dry, hot weather on the cotton crop in Red River county. Apparently the cotton crop has been making progress. Evidence to the contrary has not been found except in instances where fields were worked out later than usual. A stunted condition in such fields has not been overcome as readily perhaps as might have been the case had more moisture been available. The south half of the county has received less rain than the north half but cotton has made progress in this area according to reports.

"Cotton is a dry weather plant. Weather records of the last quarter century in Red River county show that almost invariably a good cotton crop has followed a dry summer. Back in the years 1911, 1912, 1913, 1914, 1916, 1917, 1919, when cotton yields averaged from 40,000 bales to more than 51,000 bales annually, not once did the total rainfall for June and July reach seven inches. In the years 1915, 1921 and 1926, however, years when cotton yields were as low as 15,445 bales and not higher than 23,836, rainfall for the two months was not below 8.81 inches and one year reached 14.66 inches.

The year 1913 furnished the best example of a good cotton crop accompanied by dry weather. Rainfall here during the months of June and July totaled 2.40 inches. No precipitation was reported in July. The cotton yield was 44,920 bales.

There is no "scheme" or "trick" to this offer—just a straightforward privilege of placing a want ad in the Hope Star, to run for three days, at no cost to you! All to prove to you the wonderful pulling power—the wonderful selling power of Hope Star want-advertisement.

In every home, store room and attic are to be found items of Furniture, Household Utensils, Musical Instruments, Stoves, Radios, and no limit of odds and ends that are no longer wanted by the owners. Surely there is some one else who wants and could use these very items, and pay a fair price for them. Get together, Mr. Seller and Mr. Buyer, through the want-ad columns. If you place your want-ad Thursday it will run three days, at no cost to you.

Mr. Everyman's garage no doubt holds a variety of things he once considered treasures, but which he no longer finds a need. Garden Plows, Tools, Spare Parts and Accessories, Fishing Outfits. They are now rotting away, and will soon be valueless to anyone. Let the other fellow know about them, and get what they are worth out of them through the want-ads of the Hope Star.

Farmers often have second-hand equipment which they no longer need. Spare rooms that are not occupied might bring an income if you could secure acceptable tenants. The want-ads might help you.

Hope Star Want-Ads Get Quick Results

The Hope Star goes into most all of the homes in Hope. It is also to be found on the reading table of many of the homes in neighboring towns in this trade territory. And more than two-thirds of the Hope Star's subscribers live upon rural routes in this immediate trade territory—from Nashville to Buckner, and from Prescott to the Red River. These homes have come to depend upon the columns of the Hope Star. Some of the readers may want to buy the very things you want to sell. The rates are reasonable.

No Limit! No Obligation! No Cost! FREE!

Free want-ads will not be run for real-estate dealers, rental agents, or merchants when advertising their wares. To all others, the offer is absolutely wide open to the limit of our capacity.

"Keyed ads" or blind ads, in which replies come in care of the Hope Star are regularly 25c extra, and this same charge must be made on these ads on this want-ad bargain day.

NO FREE WANT-ADS WILL BE ACCEPTED OVER THE TELEPHONE. Write out your want-ad just as you would wish it to appear, and bring it or mail it to this office before Thursday night at midnight. Please be sure that names are plainly spelled.

Remember, the more you tell the quicker you sell.

Don't expect a little want-ad to work miracles—it won't do it. Don't expect to sell some second-hand article for the price of a new one, for want-ads won't do it. However, want-ads can call the attention of prospective purchasers to where the article may be found. After that, your sale depends upon the value and merit of the article offered. But you will be surprised how many people will be interested in the very things for which you no longer find a need.

We would like to carry a full page of free want-ads next Thursday, Friday and Saturday. We want you to see for yourself just how you can use them to your own profit, day after day. But be sure to bring in your want-ad by Wednesday night, as this offer may never be repeated.

In this special offer you don't even owe us a "Thank you." Our offer is purely mercenary. When you find the value and profit of reading these little ads each day, you will become a more or less regular reader and patron of this interesting department of the Hope Star. In the long run we expect to get our money back—but Thursday only you get as many want-ads as you like, all to run three days, at absolutely no cost to you.

WOMAN POP

The First Installment

By Cowan

Fourteen women were present. The next meeting will be held Friday, July 18, at 2 p. m. A tailored clothing demonstration will be given at this time.

Personal Mention

Wm. Ramsey, who was operated on for a serious appendix trouble last Friday at the Julia Chester hospital, is recovering nicely according to word to The Star Tuesday.

Bennie Shipp, who recently resigned his position with Montgomery Ward & Co. to accept a place with the Hope Fertilizer Co., is to assume his new duties today. He has enjoyed a vacation of one week in the meantime.

Miss Martha Jane Bucher, county home demonstration agent, spent Tuesday at Blevins and Tokio.

Her Children a Joy

"When I was not more than 13 years old mother taught me never to take spells of biliousness, indigestion and sour stomach lightly," says Mrs. C. E. Hauck, whose home is at 1310 Boyle St., in Houston. "She started me taking Herbine then, and what a blessing it has been for me! My four children are always well, with good appetites and a big store of energy. Any time one of them gets a little sluggish, breath is bad or I see the tongue becoming coated, I give him a teaspoonful of Herbine."

Herbine is a vegetable liquid so concentrated you only have to take a teaspoonful to get results. Herbine does nothing more than keep the stomach and bowels active so gas can not constipate you, make you bilious, dyspeptic or suffer from sour stomach, sick headache and indigestion.

Sold by Ward & Son, Hope, Ark., and Crescent Drug Co., Washington, Ark.

Women of Goodlett Meet for Demonstration

Jars of corn, lima beans, soup mixtures, tomatoes in pure, pure and okra were put up for the community fair exhibit. Also three cans of lima beans and eight cans of corn were put up in tins.

Interest Being Shown at Church of Christ Revival

H. Paul Lewis, the Hebrew Christian evangelist of Nashville, Tenn., attached to good Monday evening audience at the Church of Christ. His subject was "The Bible versus Evolution." He used the law of nature and evolution to prove the God of heaven, and that the Bible is His inspired word.

Mr. Lewis declared that the cause of so many children of christian parents, believing in evolution, and denying the inspiration of the Bible was due to the failure in giving them the evidences of God, and facts of the natural kingdom to prove that the Bible is an inspired book. He also stated that the Bible was written by about 40 persons over a period of 1500 hundred years, without one contradiction, and contained every form of literature.

Mr. Lewis closed his arguments in behalf of the Bible, by presenting a beautiful mental picture of the living God, a resurrected Saviour, and the great scheme of redemption as painted in words by the inspired writers, of every walk and station of life.

Tonight at 8 o'clock he will preach on, "The Prophecies of the Old Jewish Testament Fulfilled in Christ Jesus," or "Jesus is Given a New Trial." As this subject was used in answering a Jewish Rabbi last year, it was put in pamphlet form. Fifty of these will be passed out tonight free. Both Jew and gentile is invited. No collections are taken at these meetings.
